A LETTER FROM YOUR MINISTRY TEAM

We have recently dropped our eldest son off at University for the first time. I'm not sure who was more nervous: our son or me as his mum! He allowed me to unpack his stuff and organise his room and seemed excited until I mentioned it was time for us to leave him...then I saw the genuine worry in his face. When I asked him what specifically he was worried about, he said, 'All of it! I just don't know what to expect!'

Of course, this is a very natural worry and I reassured him that everyone has those nerves starting something new. And for those starting university, that is usually a lot of 'new' all in one go!

I had a similar experience this summer when I started my training for ordination. This is going to involve two years of study and in the run up to the summer school week that happened in August, I was very nervous indeed. Like our boy, I didn't really know what to expect and was rather daunted by the prospect. But I was met by current students who were welcoming and reassuring, lecturers who understood what returning to study in mid-life can be like and peers who were all as nervous as I was. But what I also had was the knowledge that God had my back. And that was the most reassuring thing of all.

As a natural worrier and over thinker, one of my favourite verses of the Bible is found in a section entitled 'Do not worry.' Matthew 6:34 says:

"Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own."

It's become a mantra for me during times of worry or when starting something new. When I find myself worrying, I repeat that verse over and over and I find it helps me to put that worry aside. Earlier in that chapter Jesus asks, "Can any one of you by worrying add a single hour to your life?" And the answer is, of course not! So why do we worry? Why do we approach new things with nerves? Ultimately I think the answer is 'because we are human'. Because we don't know what is around the corner. Because we may not feel 'in control'.

Jesus is telling us to relinquish that need for control and to hand it over to Him. We can't know what is in the future. But we can know that God loves us; He knows our needs and tells us to follow Him and He will provide. Which is exceedingly comforting with my adventure ahead and I pray it will be for you, too!

WORLINGHAM NEWS

News from Worlingham CEVC Primary School

We would like to extend a warm welcome to all our new and existing families as we start another academic year. The children have settled well into their new classes and routines and it has been lovely to see so many happy faces.

Last week, our Year 6 pupils went to PGL for their residential trip, where they stayed for two nights, and took part in an exciting range of outdoor activities. They had a fabulous time and made lots of special memories.

Thank you to all our families who have kindly donated outgrown books for the school library, and also those who have donated preloved uniform to help support other families. Your kindness is much appreciated.

We are looking forward to an exciting year ahead and working in partnership with our families and local community.

BECCLES NEWS

Beccles & District Historical Society

On April 8th 1927 a public meeting chaired by the Mayor established the Beccles Historical Society. The stated purpose of the Society was to record and keep all papers and items of historical importance relating to the town, and members had the right to access these. Later this was extended to include the immediate district surrounding Beccles. Early activities were visits to view collections in members' houses, summer rambles and winter meetings when new findings and research were presented to the members.

These activities have changed over the past 100 years. The Beccles Museum now houses artefacts relating to the local history and papers are deposited in the Suffolk Record Office. However, monthly meetings with speakers are held from October to May and outings are arranged for the summer months. One of the meetings is reserved for members to report on any research they have done or present any other new local discoveries.

Over the years the membership and the number of activities has fluctuated, reflecting national events and it ceased to meet during World War 2. In good times it offered numerous outings and even summer holidays when a coach full of members travelled to explore the history of another part of the country. At present the membership remains steady and newcomers to the town have found it an ideal way to learn about the history of the area and meet others with similar interests. (Every meeting includes time for coffee, biscuits and chat!).

The first meeting of the winter series of talks takes place on Thursday, 1st October at 7.30pm in Hungate Hall (adjacent to Hungate Church). The subject is 'The Rest of your Natural Life' and concerns Suffolk Convicts Transported to Australia. The speaker is Pip Wright.

Other talks over the season will include topics about Beccles, Framlingham and Norwich. This season will also include a major anniversary: April 2027 will mark the 100th year of the Society and centenary celebrations are planned. Visitors can attend a talk at the cost of £3.00
